The only cool thing in Phoenix last week was an advance agent of Santa Claus taking orders for Christmas goods.

The Mining & Scientific Press of San Francisco, was forty years old on May 24th. Like good wine, the Press improves with age.

President McKinley went to Norfolk to view the eclipse. After seeing it he is better able to appreciate what will happen to him next November.

It is announced that a large flow of artesian water has been struck at Indio, Cal., but whether the desert will "blossom as a rose" or blister like a nose, rumor sayeth not.

The Arizona Citizen comes to us in a new dress of type and with its news and editorial columns considerably brightened. Geo. H. Smalley, formerly correspondent of the Republican, now has the editorial management of the Citizen.

The Phoenix Republican says that last Saturday was the hottest day of the year thus far, the thermometer registering 110 degrees. As the Gazette reported a temperature of 115 degrees in Phoenix two weeks ago, the Republican must have inadvertently dropped a digit.

The secretary of the interior has asked congress to pass a law requiring licenses for the marriage of Indians, the same as among white citizens. The announcement will doubtless amuse Chulcheno, and other chiefs on the San Carlos reservation, who are "manchly" married, and buy a new wife occasionally, with a pony or two.

Editor Martin of the Arizona Journal-Miner, is making his new linotype hum, judging from the increased amount of reading matter contained in the daily J-M, which has been enlarged to a nine column folio. Measured by the support given them, Arizona newspapers are ahead of those of any other section of the west.

Mr. Walter J. Swingle, agricultural explorer of the United States department of agriculture, is now in Algeria buying 200 date palms which are to be shipped to Arizona. The department of agriculture considers the climate and soil of Arizona favorable to the development of the date palm and will therefore undertake an experiment, on a large scale, to cultivate this fruit in the United States.

Chief Justice Fuller in giving his decision in the Kentucky contested governorship was explicit in stating that the Gobel law is not involved in it. The law on which this decision is based has been on the statute book of Kentucky for a hundred years, and it gives the legislature the power to act as the final authority in cases of contested elections for the governorship.

The republicans in congress have played fast and loose with the Nicaragua canal question. It was pretty well understood by the republicans in the house when they passed the bill that their conferees in the senate would vote to defer action upon the measure. Republican congressmen who expect to be candidates for re-election can now go home and tell their constituents how hard they worked for the success of the bill.

The announcement that the people of Virginia have voted for a revision of the state constitution, the object of which is the disfranchisement of the Negro, furnishes additional evidence that the race question in the south is being settled in a way that was not anticipated by the New England abolitionists, but which is, nevertheless, the only feasible solution of the vexed question. The opinion is growing in the north that a grave mistake was made when the freedmen were given the election franchise, without any restrictions, such as educational or property qualifications. The Southern people have been very patient under this great wrong thrust upon them.

There are more mining sharks to the square mile in Boston than in the whole of Arizona, and they have worked New England investors to a finish. They are just now trying to revive some old fakes, one of which is to work the so-called gold-bearing sands in the Adirondack region of northern New York. A flaring advertisement in a Boston paper announces, "Gigantic fortunes in the golden placers of the Adirondacks, now being taken out by a process recently perfected. In each claim there is more than 10,000,000 tons of gold-bearing sands, carrying from $5 to $20 per ton. A process that is simple and readily understood, now in practical operation, turning out $8 per ton in gold at a cost of $2." This new outbreak of advertising, says the Engineering & Mining Journal, is apparently the work of men who believe in the short memory of the public and in the general credulity of small investors.

It will, perhaps, have been noted that Senator Carter, the present republican senator from Montana, presented the credentials of Mr. Clark, under the ad interim governor's appointment in that state. This may mean only an act of courtesy, says the Boston Herald, but there are others who find in it a proof of friendship between Mr. Clark and Mr. Carter. One of the suggestions made in the inner circle of politics is of an alliance for the future between these two men. Senator Carter's term of office is to expire on the 4th of March next, and there will, therefore, be two senators to be elected by the legislature of Montana to be chosen in the coming autumn. It is suspected that these two senators may be Carter and Clark, the one a republican and the other a democrat. Clark, with a republican alliance, it is thought, might easily overcome his inveterate foe, Marcus Daly, while the republicans, by joining forces with Clark, would be able to choose a senator of their party in a democratic state. This arrangement may not be carried out, but it is suspected that something like it is in the political air.

A railroad from the Silver Belt district to Kelvin will probably be constructed in the near future. It will cross the S. P. west of Red Rock, and will be built for the purpose of connecting the Atlas group of copper mines with the Kelvin reduction works. —Arizona Blade.

Railroad to Coal Fields.

J. A. Reavis and Lyman Bridges have returned from a trip to the San Carlos coal fields where Mr. Bridges went to investigate the fields with the view of building a railroad from Tucson to that rich mining country, says the Citizen. Mr. Reavis said this morning that Mr. Bridges was favorably impressed with the country and the route of the proposed road which touches Florence and will skirt the Tortillito range of mountains. At the coal fields active work is being prosecuted and a diamond drill will soon be placed on the coal vein for deep prospecting. Mr. Bridges is the chief engineer of the company which is being promoted by Mrs. William Beard, who says she has a concession from the Mexican government for a railroad line from a bay south of Topolobampo through Tucson to Phoenix. The concession embraces 10,000 acres of land and a subsidy of $10,000 a mile, besides other valuable inducements from the states of Sonora and Sinaloa, and other Mexican states through which the railroad is going to run. It will enter the United States at a point near Lenoma, about 20 miles east of Nogales, and will thence be run in a general northwesterly direction to Phoenix. What is to be done after that is yet to be determined. Mrs. Beard said she had an offer of $50,000 to build to Deming instead of to Phoenix, but she had declined for the reason that her husband, an experienced mining man, who died in Alaska told her that central and northern Arizona was the richest and most promising mineral region in the world.

Rations for Destitute Indians.

For the last ten days rations of beans, wheat, etc., have been issued to the Indians upon the Sacaton reservation, this being the first installment of the provisions provided by congress in its appropriation of $33,000 for these dependents upon the government, a dependency which should never have been forced upon them. The Indians are willing and able to support themselves if the water which should be as free as the air were supplied them by this generous government. The principle of giving a man a chance to work for a living is so much better than that of the mistaken charity which gives him a living gratuitously. —Florence Tribune.

University of California Summer Session.

During the summer session of the University of California, from June 25 to August 3, planned especially for teachers and others who are free to study only during their vacation, courses will be offered in philosophy, pedagogy, history and political science, the Semitic languages and literatures, Greek, Latin, English, mathematics, physics, chemistry and botany. The work may count toward a degree. The summer students will have the full priv-leges of the libraries and museums, and of the physical, chemical and botanical laboratories. The faculty will be strengthened by the addition of several special lecturers. The tuition fee will be $10, regardless of the number of courses taken with laboratory fees in scientific courses.

body as well as mind should profit from the summer session. The hand ball and tennis courts, the cinder path and the athletic grounds, the gymnasium, and the University boathouse, on Session basin, Oakland, furnish many attractions for lovers of athletic sports. The Berkeley hills and the picturesque country all about San Francisco bay are a tempting field for long tramps and bicycle rides.

Comfortable accommodations can be obtained in Berkeley for from $18 to $30 per month. The summer climate is cool and delightful. San Francisco is 50 minutes distant and the fare 10 cents. Copies of the announcement for the summer session and detailed information may be obtained by addressing the Recorder of the Faculty, University of California, Berkeley, Calif.

The Outlaws in Pinal.

Wm. Stiles, Burt Alvord and Bravo John camped over night at the Brady cattle ranch, 30 miles southeast of Florence, last week. Beside six shooters they were each armed with a 30 30 Winchester rifle of the latest pattern. The guns were new. They had good horses and a large supply of ammunition. They said they were sorry they had gotten into such a scrape, but as they were now outlawed they would not be taken. They told the ranch boys to present their compliments to the officers and then rode off in the direction of Casa Grande. The next night Stiles was seen in Casa Grande, it is said. They were seen next up at Hunt's ranch, where they left two horses which had given out. They probably intend to reach the north line of the territory. —Arizona Blade.
